Art Unit: 3636

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The hat allowing "the user's head to rotate within said hat" is not supported in the originally filed disclosure.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1, 4 and 5, so far as definite, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by McMichael.

The hat is item 160, the first and second corresponding hook and loop fasteners are items 194, 192 (see col. 5, lines 29-30).

Claims 1, 4 and 5, so far as definite, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Moran.

The hat is item 12, the hook and loop fastener is 32 which includes first and second portions.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 11/21/05 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues that the new limitations that the invention is configured to allow the user's head to rotate within the hat, and/or that the present invention has a first piece of hook and loop type fastener and a second piece of hook and loop type fastener that are configured to separate from one another under conscious movement of the user's head are not taught in the prior art. The Examiner disagrees. The prior art to McMichael and Moran teaches a hat, which can allow rotation of the head within the hat depending on the relative size of the head and the hat. Note, however, that this limitation is not supported in the original disclosure. Secondly, the fasteners can in fact be separated from one another under conscious movement of the user's head depending on the strength of the user. The rejection is proper as stands.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
